SCENE OF BLUCHER'S DEFEAT

French Forces are Well Prepared for Offensive Campaign and Have Protection from Enemy's Fire; Rheims May be Razed By the Invading Foe.

By Associated Press

LONDON September 22.—All eyes are now fixed on the western section of the great battle in France where the allies are expected to descend on the German right which is now bending backward under persistent pressure to the north of the river Aisne.

If these German positions are once carried strategists here believe the whole German front will be in danger. Meanwhile however a "perceptible progress" is all the light the official chronicler permits himself to throw on the great siege of the fortified position which now has lasted 10 days.

German reinforcements according to Berlin reports have beaten their opponents in the race to the fighting zone and the result is seen in the rapid strides of Hussar strokes which it is said von Kluck has delivered in an effort to stem the allied envelopment movements around St. Quentin.

Thus far the battle of the Aisne resembles on a larger scale the chief features of the struggle of the Marne but whether in the final outcome the victory will rest with the same side is likely to remain a secret for a few days.

Ten days of the most furiously contested struggle in modern history has left both armies in such a position that neither can claim an advantage over the other and the result must depend largely on what reinforcements the opposing commanders at their backs can muster.

On the E. on Aisne as on the Marne, the Germans are thrusting persistently at the center while the French [illegible] are pushing their forces in the effort of working around the German flank. By to day the allied left flank is [illegible] in the center [illegible] according to official statement. [illegible] a little ground on both wings. If the report that General Von Kluck was mortally [illegible] headquarters to Mons is true, it will be of the greatest significance in spreading the realization of the danger which threatens him from an army now [illegible] from the west.

The third great battle between the Russians and Austrians in Galicia [illegible] with a bombardment of [illegible] in which 2,000,000 men are [illegible] is expected to be in full swing in a few hours when the whole line held by the Austrians between Ozernowitz and Cracow will be involved.

ALLIES MAKE BUT SLOW PROGRESS AGAINST ENEMY.

By Associated Press.

LONDON September 22.—The correspondent of the Times in Paris discussing the big battle says:

"The battle of the Aisne continues, as it has lasted a week with the allies making slow progress against extraordinary difficulties. It is no longer, properly speaking a battle, but a siege. The Germans have constructed along their hundred mile front a series of small fortresses from the Oise to the Meuse made of old forts and disused quarries.

"Bomb-proof shelters formed of bags of cement and subterranean passages connect the casements on the heights of Pommiers with the open country by means of which the enemy secured victuals and supplied with ammunition. These elaborate works were prepared by the Germans before the march on Paris, thus indicating that they had some doubts of success.

"The plains of Champagne are admirably suited for the French offensive. They bristle with trenches and redoubts, but if these hamper French action they also stop German attacks.

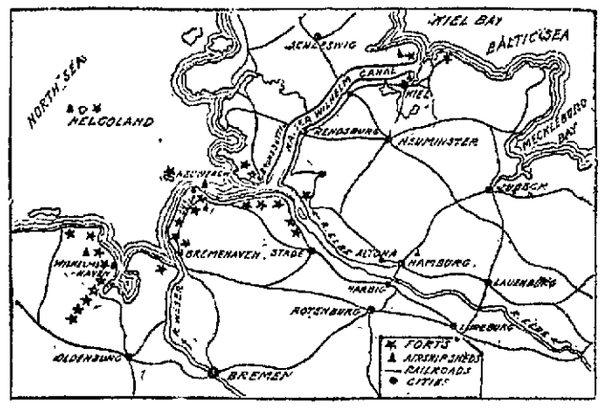
"The battle of the Aisne thus becomes a kind of Sebastopol. Operations of this sort always result in the defeat of the besieged unless reinforcements arrive."

A Paris dispatch adds:

"Military experts here believe that the Germans intend to raze the entire city of Rheims. While the city itself is important from a military standpoint, it is the center of a district of the highest strategic value."

"The German forces on their right are close to the city on the north side while the French batteries on the heights to the south while and and [illegible] the German right attack is developing at Craonne the French attack is centering toward Nogent.

"The plateau of Craonne a head between the Aisne and the Ailette is held by 100,000 Germans, while the village [illegible] occupied by the French. Blucher, who was defeated by Napoleon on this same ground, declared that 25,000 troops could hold this plateau against any odds."



GERMAN ATTACKS EASY TO REPULSE, SAY FRENCH.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The following official announcement was made today:

"Along the entire front from the Oise to the Woevre the Germans manifested yesterday, September 21, a certain activity without, however, obtaining appreciable results.

"First, on our left on the right bank of the Oise the Germans were obliged to yield ground before the French attacks. Between the Oise and the Aisne the situation is unchanged. The enemy has not delivered any serious attacks contenting himself yesterday with continued cannonading.

Second, on the center between Rheims and Souain the enemy attempted an offensive move which was repulsed, while between Souain and the Argonne we have made some progress. Between the Argonne and the Meuse there has been no change.

"In the Woevre district the enemy made a violent effort, he attacked the heights of the Meuse along the front without, however, succeeding in gaining a position on these heights.

"On our right in Lorraine the enemy has again passed the frontier, basing in this operation a number of small columns. Domevre, to the south of Blamont, has been occupied by the enemy. During the days of September 20 and 21 we captured 20 automobiles, used in moving provisions and all the men attached to them. We also took numerous prisoners.

"Concerning the Russians in Galicia the rearguards of the Austrian armies have been pursued by the Russians and have suffered considerable losses. Russian troops have come in contact with the Austrian garrison near Przemysl."

GERMANS OCCUPY THE HEIGHTS OF CRAONNE.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Sept. 22.—The announcement given out at official headquarters under date of September 21 relates that in the fighting around Rheims the Germans have occupied the heights of Craonne and that in advancing on the French city, which is described as on fire, they occupied the village of Betheny.

The Germans have attacked the line of forts to the south of Verdun and they crossed victoriously the eastern frontier of Lorraine, which was defended by eight French army corps. A French sortie from a point northeast of Verdun was repulsed.

BOVINE SLAYS 18 GERMANS AT SEZANNE; SOME BULL!

By Associated Press

PARIS, Sept 22.—The Petit Parisien prints a story of a bull which it says [illegible] Germans. It appears that when the peasants in the neighborhood of Sezanne were warned of the approach of the Germans, they opened the gates of the cattle pens and [illegible] to drive the cattle to a place of safety.

One enormous bull, it is said, became enraged by the sound of the cannonade, broke away and charged the Germans, who took on in stupefaction, believing it was some trick of the French. At the first dash the bull gored six, throwing them high in the air. Others shot and wounded the animal, which, however, gored a dozen more before succumbing.

Associated Press Correspondence.

LONDON, September 10.—One of the most successful generals on the Russian side of the advance on Lemberg was General Dimitrieff, the well known Bulgarian general who led the third army, which formed the left wing of the Bulgarian forces in the great battle of Lule Burgas on October 29 and 30, 1912. Previous to that he had won a signal victory over the Turks at Kirk Kilisse.

After the end of the war he was sent as ambassador to St. Petersburg, that is to say, Petrograd, where he joined the Russian army, a step for which he was cast off by Bulgaria.

SMITHFIELD GIRL IS HOME FROM TRIP IN GERMANY.

Miss Bertha Leech of Smithfield, who has been in Europe for the past three months, accompanied by her father, W. S. Leech, who met her in New York, arrived in Connellsville this morning and spent a short time here between trains. Miss Leech, Miss Agnes Jamieson, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Jamieson of South Connellsville, and Miss Jennie Arbe of Uniontown, were members of a European party and the three arrived yesterday morning in New York on the Holland-American steamer New Amsterdam. Mrs. Jamieson received a telegram from her daughter stating that she had arrived safely and would remain in New York until the latter part of the week.

Miss Leech highly praised the Germans for their courteous treatment of the marooned Americans. They gave them reduced hotel rates and made everything as comfortable as possible for them. She stated that only persons who were in the foreign country could realize the horrible atrocities of the war.

FILIBUSTER WINS

Republicans Force Democrats to Abandon River and Harbor Grab.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The filibuster in the Senate against the rivers and harbors bill, lead by Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, was crowned with victory last night when the Senate by a vote of 27 to 22 adopted a motion by a Democrat, Senator Bankhead of Alabama, to recommit the bill to the commerce committee with instructions that it substitute a measure appropriating a lump sum of $20,000,000 to be expended on existing waterway projects in the discretion of the secretary of the war and board of army engineers. This means that there are to be no appropriations for single new projects.

The bill as originally reported to the Senate carried a total of $58,000,000. In the result obtained last night Senator Burton secured more than he hoped for when with Senators Kenyon of Iowa and Borah of Idaho he started his long and spectacular fight against the bill.

SUBMARINES OF GERMANS SINK 3 BRITISH CRUISERS

Official Announcement is Made of Loss of Three Sister Ships.

LOSS OF LIFE WILL BE HEAVY

Brief Announcement Does Not State Time or Place of the Disaster But Tells That a Number of Men Were Picked up by Other Ships of Fleet.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The silence of the British authorities regarding naval operations in the North Sea was suddenly broken this afternoon by announcement of a disaster to the British navy which, according to official information, has suffered the loss of three armored cruisers, sunk by German submarines.

The victims of this brilliant stroke on the part of the German fleet are the Cressy, the Aboukir and the Hogue, sister ships.

The loss of life among the crews of these three vessels probably will be heavy, although a considerable number of men were picked up by the cruiser Lowestoft, a division of torpedo boat destroyers and some trawlers.

Neither the time nor the scene of the disaster is given in the official report.

200 ENGLISH WARSHIPS OFF THE HELGOLAND FORTS.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two hundred British warships lie in battle line off the German naval base of Helgoland, so close that at times they appear to touch each other, according to Captain Skelley of the British oil tank steamer San Lorenzo, which reached New York today from London.

For six weeks the San Lorenzo was with this British fleet, her officer said, as a supply ship. She took them 15,000 tons of fuel oil. The San Lorenzo was with the fleet during the engagement with the German cruisers behind Helgoland, but was not permitted to steam close enough to see the fighting.

Captain Skelley said that a story was current among the British sailors to the effect that the British Admiral Sir John Jellicoe was aboard the submarine which sank the German cruiser Hela recently. As to this, however, he had no further knowledge further than the tale the British bluejackets related to him.

Outside the Ambose Channel lightship, at the entrance to New York harbor, Captain Skelley said there are two British cruisers and a Canard Line steamer converted into an auxiliary cruiser.

WALL OF WARSHIPS NOW BLOCKS THE NORTH SEA.

Associated Press Correspondence.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A "solid wall of warships" is thrown across the northern part of the North Sea, according to the captain of a British trawler who has just arrived from Iceland. The skipper said it was "absolutely impossible for any foe to break through undetected," so constant and thorough was the patrol to the north. It was his own experience to be halted and searched and after being released his boat was followed by two torpedo boats until it reached its destination.

The thoroughness of the patrol was further testified to by another North Sea skipper. His trawler was lying along shore, when shortly after midnight it suddenly found itself hemmed in by a huge black object which proved to be a British cruiser. The officers seemed to have had cat's eyes. From the dark a voice demanded to know the identity of the trawler. It was promptly shouted back.

"The name is quite correct, sir," came another voice astern of us," said the skipper. "A submarine had crept up behind us and read our name."

BRYNER ENTITLED TO FULL SALARY, SOLICITOR HOLDS

Higbee's Opinion is That Back Pay is Due Sealer of Weights.

WORK DONE IS NOT A QUESTION

Pay is Due from Time of Appointment and Not from the Time He Actually Began Work; Council Approves Plans for a New Walk on the Bridge.

According to Solicitor Higbee's opinion in the mandamus proceedings instituted by J. S. Bryner for three months' salary as sealer of weights, council is legally bound to pay the official because he held office during that time, regardless of whether he did any actual work.

Mr. Higbee's opinion was read to council last night, but he verbally explained points that were not clear to the members. The gist of his decision is that Bryner is a salaried officer whose pay is not to be estimated at so much a day or a month. The office to which he was appointed by the mayor is a legitimate one, the solicitor avers, and so long as he is not fired, he is entitled to the salary.

Councilman Gans asked the solicitor how he reconciled this decision with the clause in the third class city act which gives the superintendent of accounts and finance the right to satisfy himself as to the services performed by city employes. Mr. Higbee explained that Bryner's position was of a character over which the superintendent would have no jurisdiction. The solicitor further explained that if Bryner could do his work in one month and not do anything further the other eleven, he would still be entitled to the $1,000 a year salary.

As the matter now stands, Mayor Marietta has signed warrants for Mr. Bryner's pay from May 1 to August 1, the three months during which Mr. Bryner waited for equipment to begin the duties of his office. Now Captain Gans will again pass on them.

The revised plans for the walk on the south side of the Yough bridge, as submitted by Engineer George Porter were approved and an ordinance accepting them and giving the county the right to construct the walk was adopted. The new plans call for a six-foot extension to Main street at the east end, instead of steps leading to Water street.

The committee named to investigate the lien against Dr. S. S. Stahl for a sidewalk laid by direction of the old council, reported that Dr. Stahl owes the city $95.38—$57.39 for the paving; $11.40 as the penalty for not laying the walk in the time specified; $26.40 for interest and $1.20 for the expense of filing a lien. A resolution making a refund of $10.60 to Mrs. Carrie Bitner for overcharges on a sidewalk laid at the same time, was passed.

An important matter, which has been hanging fire for some time, was decided when $1 was fixed as the fee to be paid magistrates holding police hearings in the absence of the mayor. Thus, Alderman Colburn, who has been doing this duty for Mayor Marietta whenever the latter happens to be away, will get $1 each time he sits in judgment on prisoners regardless of how many there are to be tried.

In order to clear the way for the beginning of the Baldwin avenue paving on Wednesday, a 24-hour notice was directed to be served on W. W. Kern, W. H. Lincoln, the Yough Valley Realty Company, Elizabeth J. Freese, Louise Babbage and Ida M. Goodwin, to remove the lumber and other building material piled in front of the new building, next to the Goodwin company's plant. Work on it had been stopped because of litigation between the Yough Valley Realty Company and the three women mentioned above. The contractor, Mr. Kern has sued for the balance of the contract price of the structure, hence council was at a loss to know who owns the material. Solicitor Higbee advised that all the parties be notified.

A contract to furnish 2,000 letterheads was awarded to The Courier Company.

A resolution accepting the state commissioner of health's permit for sewerage and directing it to be placed on record, was passed.

Solicitor Higbee, Engineer Hirst and Councilman Gans will meet Friday night and confer with representatives of the Greenwood Land Company on the taking over of the sewers in the Greenwood Addition.

The appointment of Frank Ganoe and James Fresess as patrolmen was confirmed by council.

Two ordinances, one fixing the second Monday in November as the day on which assessment appeals shall be heard, and another changing the grade of South Pittsburg street were passed finally.

Adjournment was then taken until next Monday night.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO PROTECT GRADE CROSSINGS.

Council's first move toward securing protection for teams and pedestrians at grade crossings throughout the city was made last night, when Councilman F. W. Wright introduced a resolution directing the solicitor to draft an ordinance requiring gates or safety devices at all crossings.

Mr. Wright's first resolution requires gates to be placed at all crossings.

ONE MAN AND A HORSE ARE HURT IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

V. D. Callaghan Accidentally Runs Down Foreigner's Wagon Near Trotter.

One person was injured and a horse badly cut in an automobile accident at Trotter, near Constable William Roland's residence, last night. The collision occurred on account of the failure of the driver of the wagon to keep on the right side of the road.

V. D. Callaghan, superintendent at Lemont, was running along at a fair rate of speed in his Buick car when a horse and wagon driven by a foreigner approached.

The rig was on the left hand side of the road and showed no intention of turning to the right. To avoid a collision, Callaghan turned to his left. At this point the wagon was turned across the road and, unable to stop his car, Callaghan hit it. The horse was thrown into the automobile and Mr. Meang, one of its occupants, was painfully hurt.

The foreigner ran to the house of Constable Roland and told him to phone Stauer's livery that his horse was dying. He then fell down under a tree as though seriously hurt, but his injuries were slight. The injured autoist was taken to Dr. A. J. Colborn's office, where he received medical attention.

Goodwin and the Yough Valley Realty Company, the realty company had a rule issued on the other parties to the suit to show cause why the plaintiff's claim should not be apportioned to the lots described in the lien. The realty company states that it is ready to pay its share of the claim and indemnify the plaintiff against loss.

STREET CAR HELD UP BY BANDIT; HE GETS $39 IN CASH

South Connellsville Robbery is Followed by Five Arrests.

IDENTITY IS NOT ESTABLISHED

Conductor and Motorman Unable to Say That Any of the Prisoners Was the Man Who Robbed Colbert and Forced Them to Drive Car in Dark.

Confronted by a burly bandit in overalls who wielded a menacing revolver, Conductor Charles Colbert was compelled to hand over nearly $39 at the end of the South Connellsville line about 10.45 o'clock last night. The man then compelled Colbert and Motorman John Huey to extinguish the lights of the car and run it to Murphy avenue, where he alighted and disappeared down the street toward the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

Two hours later a special car with Jail Warden Newcomer's bloodhounds, county authorities from Uniontown and West Penn officials arrived on the scene and the dogs followed a trail from Murphy avenue to the Soisson brick yard, near Greene Junction, where five men were found. The men gave their names as Thomas Glenn of Scottdale, Joe Wertz of Carnegie, Pa., Louis Lesok of Keyser, W. Va., John Murphy of Pittsburg and Glenn Drummond of Washington, D. C. The first three were taken to the county jail, but the latter two are held in the city lockup awaiting further developments.

On reaching the end of the line last night, the crew followed its usual custom, the motorman walking through the car to the other end to attach his handles for the return trip, and the conductor walking outside, changing the trolley. As Colbert adjusted the trolley to the wire, he heard someone at his side and a voice exclaimed: "Hand over your nickels."

Thinking it was some late passenger pretending to hold him up, Colbert paid no attention, but when the bandit poked a revolver at his ear, he complied and turned over his collections. He had something like $38, of which $7 was his own money. He had a watch, but the bandit did not take it.

The robber went through Colbert to see if he was armed. He then commanded him to board the car and get on the front platform with the motorman. When Huey saw his companion march on the car at the point of a gun, it was his first inkling of what had happened. Both men were covered and as Colbert turned his head partly to take a look at the holdup man, he received a blow on the cheek, accompanied by a command to look ahead.

With the lights off, the crew standing close together on the front platform, the trip was made to Murphy avenue, South Connellsville, a distance of about half a mile. At Murphy the robber commanded them to stop. Asking Colbert if he had any more money, he was handed over about a dollar more. He then dropped off the front end, crept along the car to the rear and walked quickly to Arch street.

The crew ran the car to the switch at Davidson avenue, where Colbert went to the house of T. H. Miller and phoned to the dispatcher's office.

Notifying the jail imediately, it was arranged to have Warden Harry McIntyre bring down the bloodhounds. A special car in charge of E. R. Knoser, assistant superintendent of transportation, left Uniontown at 11:58 over the Oliver route and after making seven stops to let passengers off, arrived in Connellsville at 12:30, making the run in the record time of 32 minutes.

The dogs were taken out to the end of the line and later started at Murphy avenue. They followed a trail without wavering to the brickyard, where two men were found asleep on a pile of shavings.

Coste de Joseph O'Bryon and Patrolman Washabaugh assisted in making the arrests. The crew could not identify any of the men, but thought one of them looked like the holdup man when a handkerchief was placed over the lower portion of his face.

Mr. Colbert's recollection of the man who robbed him was that of a heavyset man, weighing easily 200 pounds. He was dressed in overalls and a slouch hat. From his talk, he seemed to be an American. The lower portion of his face was covered when he committed the robbery.

The two men in the lockup declare they know nothing of the robbery. Colbert and Huey went to Uniontown this morning to identify one of the men locked up there. No money or arms were found on the five. Neither Colbert or Huey were able to point out the bandit among the three men who confronted them.

AMOLOX THE NEW DISCOVERY

Many Cures Reported Daily in Towns Where It Is Known.

The wonderful cures that are being made by this remarkable new remedy are almost beyond belief. A young lady from Ottumwa, Ia., for many years suffered from a bad case of eczema. Her face was a sight to behold; all covered with red blotches, pustules and pimples. So unsightly was her appearance she gave up all social life. Failing to find relief with doctors and remedies, she became despondent and discouraged. After a few weeks' treatment with Amolox the scaly redness disappeared, pustules healed and she was entirely cured. A few months following her mother wrote that Amolox had done wonders for her daughter, and she was married last week. Seems like a fairy tale, doesn't it? Yet this is the truth. This is only one one of the truth. This is only one of reported in towns where Amolox has been introduced and its merits have become known. Amolox is invaluable for eczema, psoriasis, acne, tetter, barber's itch, red nose or any skin affection. Recommended and guaranteed by Graham & Company. Your money back if it fails to do what we claim for it.—Adv.

PENROSE FIGHTS TAX

Will Lead Opposition to Democratic "War" Revenue Bill.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member of the Senate committee on finance, yesterday declared war upon the war tax bill designed to raise $105,000,000 framed by the Democratic leaders and approved by President Wilson, which was laid before the House by Democratic Leader Underwood.

At a meeting of the House ways and means committee today the Republican members of the committee, when the Republicans are called in for the first time, will record their opposition. The bill will be voted out of committee favorably today and will be taken up in the House Thursday, under a special rule to ensure expeditious consideration, despite solid Republican opposition.

GIRL LOCKED IN CAR

Is Found in Carnival Wagon and Two Men are Arrested.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, September 22. W. E. Edson and Harry Winston, taken from Hampton's Empire Shows by local officers, the first charged with a statutory offense and, enticing the girl from her home for immoral purposes and the second with aiding and abetting the first, were taken from the lockup here to the Greensburg jail yesterday afternoon by Constable J. G. Thompson after waiving a hearing before Justice of the Peace L. S. Rhodes.

Ruth Carr, with Miss Russell, took a walk around the carnival cars and while walking met these men. They became separated, The Russell girl returned home, but Ruth Carr, who is 15 years of age and a school girl, did not.

Yesterday morning a search was made and the girl was found locked in a wagon on a car. The manager of the carnival stated that the two men had only been with him two weeks, and had been a source of trouble since that time.

From this time on, all young girls found on the streets at night without the proper chaperonage will be arrested, the police announced.

KILLS A CONSTABLE

Youth Slays Man Who Had Arrested Him for Forgery.

By Associated Press.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—Henry A. Kolbe, high constable of Doylestown, was shot and instantly killed today by William Miller, an 18-year-old youth, as he was taking the young man to jail. Kolbe had arrested Miller on a charge of having forged a check. They were walking along the street when, without warning, Miller whipped a revolver from his pocket and shot the constable.

Miller tried to escape but several persons who were close by captured him and turned him over to the police. Because of wild west proclivities Miller had been nicknamed "Broncho Billy."

The Wise Old Miller

knows there are as many grades and kinds of Corn Flakes as there are grades and kinds of flour.

To tell the best—the kind that affords the biggest money's worth and most satisfaction to the consumer—is easy for the old miller or food expert.

But the purchaser who doesn't know, must be protected. That is why the producers of the very finest Corn Flakes didn't call them "Jones' Corn Flakes" or "Smith's Corn Flakes."

These Superior Corn Flakes were given a name that is distinctive—

Post Toasties

The average housekeeper has, likely enough, tried some of the various "Corn Flakes" on the market. To realize the perfection of taste in toasted Indian corn—Cooked, rolled and seasoned with sugar, salt just as it ought to be—one should order Post Toasties.

These famous Corn Flakes have been the favorite for years among chefs and food connoisseurs. They come ready to eat in sealed packages with an Inside Container that keeps this delicious food crisp, fresh and clean for the table. And the price is no higher than the cost of ordinary kinds.

but when it was pointed out that this would mean almost a dozen along the Pennsylvania Railroad, he revised it and made it gates or safety devices. The sentiment of the members was that if gates could be secured at the most traversed crossings and warning bells at the others, much good would be accomplished.

The most dangerous crossings, according to councilmen, are the extension of Eighth street at Davidson, where a fatal automobile accident occurred some weeks ago; Fayette street, Pittsburg street and West Main street. At these council will probably require gates, but at the other crossings bells will be satisfactory.

CITY WILL LAY MAINS AT WATER COMPANY'S EXPENSE.

The Connellsville Water Company will not retard the progress of any future paving job in Connellsville by failure to lay its pipes before the contractor begins work. It was reported last night that the gas company was complying with the notices sent out July 14 to all public service companies to make repairs and extend service lines, but that the water company had made no move.

As the contractor planned to start on Baldwin avenue Wednesday, it was shown that this failure to regard the notice would seriously hamper the work, so a resolution was adopted directing that the contractor be asked to do this work under the extra work clause in the contract, at cost price plus 10 per cent, and the bill charged to the water company with the usual penalty.

Mr. Duggan declared that it was "time it came to a showdown with that bunch" in offering the resolution.

CANARY FLEES.

Escapes From Its Gilded Cage in the Soisson Theatre.

One of Fred Robbins' German canaries which sing so merrily in the office of the Soisson Theatre, escaped this morning and evaded all efforts to capture it for over an hour.

Though attaches of the theatre climbed a pole, mounted the roof of the Yough House, and did everything in their power to coax the songster back to captivity, it flitted away from place to place and gave his pursuers the merry laugh.

The bird was finally captured in the Eagles' rooms and returned to its cage.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEP. 22, 1914.

THE UNSPEAKABLE PENROSE.

The News says Penrose is "unspeakable."

That is only a Democratic view. People who know the Senator personally and who are familiar with his work say he is very' speakable and that he ranks high as a statesman.

It will be remembered that one of the particularly "unspeakable" things Senator Penrose did was to accept a check for $25,000 from the Standard Oil Company during the Presidential campaign of 1904. His enemies have tried to make it appear that this was a personal bribe, but an official investigation of the matter, on the demand of the senator himself, showed that the check was endorsed over to the Treasurer of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania, and was used in furtherance of the election of Theodore Roosevelt.

Political contributions from corporations were not at that time forbidden by law and were quite common; in fact, such subscriptions were not only received but actually solicited by both Republican and Democratic campaign managers.

The persistent efforts of the Democratic organs, inspired probably by the wampum of the Democratic candidate for United States Senator, to hold up Senator Penrose to the public as a man personally and politically unclean and vile, without any knowledge of statesmanship, is about a sort of political piffle-ugly, are far from the truth but they are in strict line with the Democratic policy of striving by malignant abuse of Republican candidates to divert public attention from the disastrous failure of Democratic policies.

Senator Penrose has been a politician for thirty years and after the death of Senator Quay he was until 1912 the head of the Republican organization, in which capacity he has been acknowledged in Republican circles as a leader and denounced in Democratic gatherings as a boss. His skill as a politician is flatteringly attested by many sometime admirers including Colonel Roosevelt. His ability as a statesman is certified by his colleagues in the senate regardless of politics. In times past he has been charged with manipulating conventions and nominating state tickets. The state ticket which he heads in this campaign was nominated by the Republicans of the state at an open primary established on demand of the Progressive Republicans.

To sum up, then, Senator Penrose is an able and capable candidate who was fairly nominated by an overwhelming majority of his party. Notwithstanding the UNSPEAKABLE ABUSE heaped upon him by an UNSPEAKABLE OPPOSITION, he deserves and should receive the cordial support of all Republicans and other citizens who have concluded that IT IS TIME TO RETURN TO REPUBLICAN POLICIES IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF GOVERNMENT.

FUSION AND CONFUSION.

The Democratic organs of Fayette county are at some pains to impress upon the minds of their readers that the last lightning change in their ticket is not a fusion movement since it merely substitutes one Democrat for another.

The Barefoot Boys seem to think that the voters of Fayette county have returned to childhood and all its confiding innocence.

If the placing of the Democratic candidate for state senator on the Washington party and Prohibition party tickets isn't fusion then there never was any political fusion. It is not only a change of name but of conditions. The new Democratic candidate has expressed a willingness to run on all three platforms, and his candidacy will have the approval of the Democratic organization. It's therefore fusion.

The Democratic fusion movement in Fayette county only proves that opposition to Senator Crow is rapidly approaching a state of despair. Sterling gave it up, after he had carefully picked out the place for himself. Higbee his law partner and political bedfellow, gives it up, after he has felt the pulse of the people a few times only.

Hertzog is the last hope. He will not be allowed to give it up. From this time forward it will be fusion and confusion. The noises of the campaign will be intensified in order to drown the voice of protest and persuade Uncle Dan't that the Barefoot immortal cannot be beaten.

ILLUSIONS OF HOPE.

Something seems to have gone wrong with the Flinn-Democratic deal in Pennsylvania. When the Washington party candidate was withdrawn in favor of McCormick, it was presumed that Palmer would withdraw in favor of G. Pinchot, sometime of Pike county, but Palmer announces in a very positive manner that he will stay on the ticket if it is the last act of his political life.

Why should Palmer get off?

He stands to be beaten by Penrose, to be sure; but in the language of P. Henry, "It is natural for man to indulge in the illusions of hope," especially if he is a candidate. No doubt the Barefoot Boy sometimes has illusions of hope. At any rate he is apt to feel that he is willing to take a chance, especially when it isn't costing him any more; and, if he loses, why, there's that promise of a fat federal appointment to soothe his feelings.

It is possible that Bill Flinn has had one put over on him by a perfectly good Democrat of the reform type?

LAW AND POLITICS.

The Uniontown New Freedom Standard sapiently opines that the public can have no interest in the law firm of Sterling, Higbee & Matthews because Sterling isn't a candidate for anything, but thinks the law practice of the firm of Crow & Shelby is a proper subject for consideration in view of the fact that Crow is a candidate for state senate. Well, so far as that goes, Higbee is or was a candidate against Crow, and Sterling is chairman of the county committee. "It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways." However, we are of the opinion that the law business of neither firm has any necessary part in the political campaign, in which respect it is on the same footing with a great many extraneous references to Senator Crow by the organs of the Spoils Syndicate.

WHY?

A young man just entering politics asks some leading questions:

"If the Democratic senate nomination was a good thing, why didn't Bruce Sterling hold on to it? He was never known to let loose of a good thing was he?

"If Partner Higbee had a clinch, why did he drop it like a hot potato?

"Much stress is laid on the allegation that Hertzog is a moral man. Was there anything wrong with Sterling's morals?

"And what was the matter with Counselor Higbee's?

"I don't know Sterling so well, but Higbee has a high reputation in this community. I don't believe that Hertzog is the only good man in the Democratic party. Why do the Democratic papers leave us under this impression?"

Respectfully referred to the Barefoot press.

The Uniontown Standard prints an elaborate editorial on "The State Highway Department. What Democratic Control Would Mean." Never mind we know what it would mean. The Democrats built the National Pike and the state canals, and there was graft in every square inch of roadway and water surface.

The Democrats have hastily revised their War Tax bill and dropped their Pork bill. Who's on the run?

The withdrawals from the Democratic and Bull Moose tickets in this county and the state remind one of the old adage, "Rats desert a sinking ship."

The Uniontown Standard speaks of the Black Flag of Pennsylvania, meaning the Republican flag. The old Democrats always referred to the "Black Republicans." Senator Penrose is one of that kind.

The Connellsville Firemen's Convention reached the Pacific Coast in quick movie time.

The rules of safety first demand that when a small boy is left in charge of a large auto one or the other ought to be tied.

The Hotel Castle has been thoroughly disinfected and is now prepared for the fall trade.

The West Penn opening has opened up some live questions. Instead of disbanding, the Chamber of Commerce had better get together and plan a winter campaign.

Senator Crow is running on his record as a public man and a private citizen; and, in spite of the industrious Democratic muckrakers, both are recognized as being good.

The West Side slingshots are the same kind with which David killed Goliath, and they are capable of doing some damage still.

The dummy auto victim of the West Side will condole with Uncle Dan't after the election.

The drouth is reported to be affecting the coke plants of the Connellsville region. Not half so much as the Democratic Tariff drouth.

The autumnal equinox passed yesterday with no storms or rains. Fair weather ruled and thereby scored another exception to an old weather rule.

Hertzog is being advertised as the anti-Penrose candidate for state senator. Nothing to it. He is the anti-Crow candidate; and that is where the good man is in bad.

The Uniontown Standard, which evidently fears the wholesale revolt of the Democrats from Uncle Dan't on the Prohibition issue, has already begun to threaten and cajole. No use, neighbor. It's all over but the voting.

The Barefoot organs speak of "consternation in the Republican camp." It's just another of their endless lests. The Republicans have not yet found it necessary to build up substitute candidates to take the places of despairing quitters.

SCOTTDALE

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, September 22.—A yellow haze of dust hangs over the county and there is general complaint of the extreme dryness of the weather, the roads bear a veritable inch deep in dust, the corn dries up and fruits and vegetables being withered and stunted on account of the drouth. A peculiar thing is that there were heavy frosts within a few days back, and now such excessive heat. The frosts were heavy enough that they froze apples in the orchards, much to the surprise of the farmers. There is a great deal of corn cut for early in the season and this is being carried on vigorously everywhere although the dryness of the corn makes it a mighty job than at other seasons softness and moisture about it. The corn is stated to mature in many instances on account of the cold spell and the lack of rain. This is a good year for pumpkins report those who have them saying that the foundations for the pumpkin pies are plentiful everywhere.

The dust is giving a good deal of trouble to the throats of those exposed to it and sore throats and irritated nostrils are common.

RHEUMATISM

Physician Believes a Genuine Remedy for the Disease Has Been Found.

Rheuma, the wonderful rheumatism remedy sold by A. A. Clarke and all druggists, is so quicked and certain in relieving rheumatism that other remedies cost many times as much.

Rheuma goes at once into the blood and purifies it, allowing it to feed freely only the skin and uterus and possess the acids, poisonous secretion into the bowels and kidneys, from which they are quickly thrown off in a natural, healthy way.

Read what a reputable physician says about Rheuma: "I have made a most careful investigation of the formula employed in the manufacture of Rheuma, and I heartily recommend it as a remedy for all forms of rheumatism, gout and complications arising from neglect of these diseases in their early stages. On the basis of the formula used alone I find Rheuma far in advance of the methods usually employed in the treatment of rheumatism and altogether different in composition from the remedies usually prescribed."

This should give any sufferer from rheumatism confidence in trying Rheuma. It is so inexpensive you cannot afford to do without it. Adv.

LONG CHECKED COAT.

For Motoring or Traveling This Wrap Has Advantages.

NEW CHECKED COAT.

The coat illustrated here is a handsome affair of green and white check with one of the new turned over collars of velvet. There are epaulettes of velvet combined with fancy buttons on the shoulders. The raglan sleeve is finished with deep turned back cuffs. The coat is suitable for general wear in the fall or makes a convenient wrap for the motorist or traveler.

ADJUSTING WAISTS.

Tape Stretched Across the Back Is Convenient.

Since separate blouses are a necessity with tailored suits here is a good point to remember. Instead of sewing the tape at the waist line down on the waist all around leave the fronts loose and stitch the tape only across the back. This will give ends that can be brought around and tied in front.

You can regulate the fullness much more easily by this method and so prevent bulging in an unsightly manner. Before sewing the tape to the waist be sure you get it adjusted properly at the waist line, otherwise it will be very uncomfortable.

Another good method of keeping skirts and waists together is to fasten a broad stay piece across the back of the waist or blouse. To this fasten large ordinary eyes and sew to the inside of the skirt band heavy flat hooks to correspond. Round eyes buttonholed in twist may be used on silk and sheer waists.

BRILLIANT COLORS.

French Dressmakers Favor Them For Their Most Elegant Creations.

The couturiers of Paris are featuring odd combinations of materials in their latest creations. Silk, linen and pique will be effectively allied in one model, while another is fashioned of voile, silk and batiste.

Blouses have jumper effects of one material worn over guimpes of another, while the skirts are formed of long Dutch tunics and underskirts of contrasting weaves.

Brilliant colors are combined with ecru, white, dark blue or gray. The designs selected are bold and striped fabrics are general favorites, and many of the long tunics are evolved from these striking materials.

Closely Woven Crape.

The popular cotton crape is a very fine, close weaving, resembling its more expensive sister, crepe de chine, and the rating—or sponge cloth—is also finer and closer than that worn last year. Both come in a large range of colors, of which at the moment pink is extremely fashionable, ranging from the palest flush to the deepest rose hints, also light or dark pekin blue, mauve, mastic and dove gray.

Comfortable Corsets.

A medical man has said that nothing more sane than the new corsets has come into fashion's realm for a long time. The waist line of these corsets is large and the bust low. They are of such shape that full, deep breathing is possible.

Motoring Hats.

The perfect motoring hat is made of satin, corduroy, or it may be of white felt. All of these are soft, shaping themselves to the head in whatever way the fancy of the wearer may dictate.

Unwarranted Liberty.

You are taking a liberty when you pat a strange horse on the nose. Suppose horses went around patting men on the nose.—Kansas City Journal.

INSTRUMENTS OF WAR SLAUGHTER

Murderous New Weapons of Battle Now in Use.

DEATH DEALING "GRENADES"

One Modernized Type Fired From a Howitzer Throws Two Pound Missile 300 Yards; Explode on Contact, Scattering 215 Bullets 100 Yards.

At the siege of Port Arthur the Japanese made such effective use of improvised hand grenades that the attention of military experts was attracted, with the result that this ancient weapon has also been modernized. One type of modern hand grenade, the Aasen, weighs one kilogram and contains 190 bullets. As these fly in all directions, says the New York Evening World, it can only be used from under cover. Another form of the grenade can be fired from a howitzer weighing about twenty-four pounds, which can be carried in a case like a rifle. It throws a murderous missile weighing about two pounds to a distance of 300 yards. It explodes on contact, scattering 215 bullets over an area of about 100 square yards. Still another type of this so called grenade can be fired, with the aid of a stick thrust into a rifle barrel, to a distance of 400 yards.

Most deadly of all is the mine grenade, weighing eight pounds and containing 400 large bullets. This is buried a few inches under ground. When an enemy is over the mine the touch of an electric button causes it to spring out of the ground until it is checked by a chain at a height of a yard above the surface, when it explodes, mowing down every man in the vicinity.

Heavy Shells and Their Targets.

The Belgian resistance at Liege has drawn public attention to modern fortresses and their defense. Heavy shells fired from long ranges will penetrate as much as twenty feet of sand, which offers more resistance than other soils. Moreover, a shell which explodes after it has penetrated soil will cause more damage than if it explodes in the air on account of the confinement of the earth it has penetrated. Walls exposed to fire are therefore made of from five to ten feet of concrete, sometimes reenforced with steel. Over these there are a few inches of dirt as a bed for grass so that the fortification may be concealed.

In practically every European country either turrets or iron and steel revolving cupolas containing guns such as those used at Liege are in use.

The value of night attacks was emphasized in the Russian-Japanese war, with the result that troops have been specially drilled in this form of operation and numerous devices for offense and defense have been invented. One of these is the new portable searchlight, with which all European armies are provided to some extent at least. These consist of a generator driven by a gasoline engine mounted on an automobile. These are especially relied upon for protection in case of attack by a dirigible and also in attacks on the ground.

Parachute Lights.

In the absence of a searchlight a force may be equipped with parachute lights, a sort of grenade weighing fourteen ounces, which, with the aid of a firing stick, can be shot from a rifle to a distance of 50 to 100 yards, where it will float in the air and burn brilliantly for a half to three-quarters of a minute. A larger form of parachute light, fired from a field gun with a small charge of powder, floats in the air, giving a dazzling light for several minutes.

A phase of war of interest to the military expert is the fact that an American invention, the gun silencer, devised by Hiram Percy Maxim of Hartford, will be given a thorough trial. Some of the silencer's advantages are, according to official reports, the muffling of the noise of firing, allowing the voice of the officer to be heard, thus giving better control of firing.

PARIS TO USE GREAT SECRET

Terrific Surprise For Germans In a "War to Kill."

A London Daily News correspondent in Paris sends the following censored message:

"I wish I could let you know the real position of things in the present situation, or situations, of our own force. Perhaps I may mention the open secret that if the Germans are rejoicing in the progress of their great siege guns, towed here by 30,450 horses, we have a surprise quite as cheering for them here, once they get to close grips.

"And, besides this, we are all asking ourselves how far their extraordinarily nice sense of humanity will prevent the French from making use of their great secret. This is a war to kill and to be decided by the number killed. And then Lord Kitchener is an unknown factor. We know a great deal about it now.

"General Gallieni is an army in himself, an administrator of established reputation and a fighter by temperament—one of the dangerous, intellectual type. Paris will be in ruins, a tomb of heroes, before he surrenders the pivot of the allied position."

Common Form of Insanity.

A party of Clevelanders entertained some visitors recently, says the Plain Dealer, and having showed them everything interesting in Cleveland proper they had to take them out to Newburg for a view of the asylum. The superintendent was in a genial frame of mind, and he conducted the bunch personally.

"Here is a queer case, ladies," he said, pausing at a particular cell. "This man has the delusion that he possesses the motive power that turns the universe. He is perfectly harmless, but he actually believes that without him the world would not move. Strange notion, isn't it?"

"Why, not at all!" exclaimed one of the women. "My husband has the same idea, and he always has had it. Is he crazy too?"

The Voyder.

The voyder was a large disk in which were collected the broken victuals which were removed from the table with a large knife with a broad, flat blade, called the voyder knife, from vider, to empty, clear or make void.

"The Boke of Nurture," by Hugh Rhodes, the date of which is 1577, one of the curious set of handbooks of manners and etiquette reproduced by the Early English Text society, speaks of these vessels as follows: "See ye have voyders ready for to void the morsels that they doe leave on their trenchers. Then with your trencher knyfe take off such fragments and put them in your voyder and then sette them downe cleane againe."

Poison Hemlock.

Water hemlock is a deadly plant common in most country neighborhoods. Its roots are often often in spring by mistake for some edible root, and death frequently results. Cattle are often poisoned by drinking water in marshes where it grows. The poison hemlock from which the Greeks made poisons is a near relative to the water hemlock. It stands from two to seven feet high and has clusters of small white flowers and large, parsleylike leaves. The stalk, being hollow, is often made into whistles by country boys, and many children are poisoned in this fashion.

The Inspired Office Boy.

"Ma, I ain't goin' to work for that man any more," said Johnny after his second day as office boy for Horatio Smithers.

"What's the matter?" his mother asked.

"I'm afraid I won't git my money. He always makes me find out what a man's business is before I let him into the office. I guess he must be afraid of collectors."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Indescribable.

"Love is an emotion which may be felt but cannot be adequately described," observed the sage.

"So is seasickness," replied the fool.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Chronic Grouch.

"Have you got dyspepsia?"

"No."

"Then what's the use of acting all the time like you had?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mingle a little gayety with your grave pursuits.—Horace.

THE SOISSON.

"GIRLS FROM THE FOLLIES" TONIGHT.

A marked improvement in burlesque has been noticeable for several seasons but it remained for Strouse and Franklyn to lead the pace this season with their "Girls From the Follies," which is headed by Harry Steppe. The company which is a new one has all the earmarks of being the one that will come in first under the wire. The cast is composed of a galaxy of the brightest stars in burlesque, and, in the chorus has been selected with the utmost care. There are 25 handsome and shapely girls all said to be smile creators who lead their chorus in the two-act musical farce, "The Lady Pirates." A big added feature in the vaudeville program is Harry Fisher and his eight cycling models introducing Mary Robinson, the finest formed woman in the world, who posed for the most noted European artists and sculptors while abroad. The act is creating a furore here the same as in Europe. This company appears at the Soisson Theater tonight.

"A FIGHT FOR THE BLACK DIAMOND."

Sensational pictures are enjoyed at times by the patrons of the Soisson Theater and tomorrow will be presented the four part drama, "A Fight for the Black Diamond." It is a thriller. Another beautiful three part play, "Return of the Twin's Double," has Grace Conrad and Francis Ford in the cast. Number 130 of the Animated Weekly is as some splendid episodes. Friday the "Trey O' Hearts" will be presented and Saturday a monster production "Escape From Siberia" in five parts.

The Last Shot

By FREDERICK PALMER

(Copyright, 1914, by Charles Scribner's Sons)

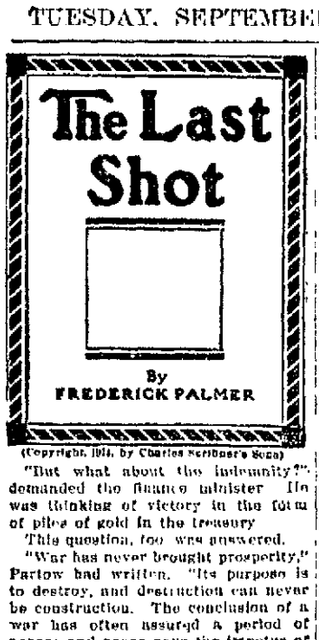
"But what about the indemnity?" demanded the finance minister. He was thinking of victory in the form of piles of gold in the treasury.

This question, too, was answered.

"War has never brought prosperity," Partow had written. "Its purpose is to destroy, and destruction can never be construction. The conclusion of a war has often assured a period of peace; and peace gave the impetus of prosperity attributed to war. A man is strong in what he achieves, not through the gifts he receives or the goods he steals. Indemnity will not raise another blade of wheat in our land. To take it from a beaten man will foster in him the desire to beat his adversary in turn and recover the amount and more. Then we shall have the apprehension of war always in the air, and soon another war and more destruction. Remove the danger of a European cataclysm, and any sum extorted from the Grays becomes paltry beside the wealth that peace will create. An indemnity makes the purpose of the courage of the Grays in their assaults and of the Browns in their resistance that of the burglar and the looter. There is no money value to a human life when it is your own; and our soldiers gave their lives. Do not cheapen their service."

"Considering the part that we played at The Hague," observed the foreign minister, "it would be rather inconsistent for us not to—"

"There is only one thing to do. Lanstron has got us!" replied the premier.



"Good Heavens! It's Not From the Army. It's From the Gravel"

"We must jump in at the head of the procession and receive the mud or the bouquets, as it happens."

With Partow's and the staff's appeals went an equally earnest one from the premier and his cabinet. Naturally the noisy element of the cities was the first to find words. It shouted in rising anger that Lanstron had betrayed the nation. Army officers whom Partow had retired for habitual drunkenness said that he and Lanstron had struck at their own calling. But the average man and woman, in a daze from the shock of the appeals after a night's celebration, were reading and wondering and asking their neighbors' opinions. If not in Partow's then in the staff's message they found the mirror that set their own ethical professions staring at them.

Before they had made up their minds the correspondents at the front had set the wires singing to the evening editions; for Lanstron had directed that they be given the run of the army's lines at daybreak. They told of soldiers awakening after the debauch of yesterday's fighting, normal and rested, glowing with the security of possession of the frontier and responding to their leaders' sentiment; of officers of the type favored by Partow who would bring the industry that commands respect to any calling, taking Lanstron's views as worthy of their profession; of that irrepressible poet laureate of the soldiers, Captain Stransky, I. C. (iron cross), breaking forth in a new song to an old tune, expressing his brotherhood ideas in a "We-have-ours-let-them-keep-theirs" chorus that was spreading from regiment to regiment.

This left the retired officers to grumble in their corners that war was no longer a gentleman's vocation, and silenced the protests of their natural ally in the business of making war, the noisy element, which promptly adapted itself to a new fashion in the relation of nations. Again the great square was packed and again a wave-like roar of cheers greeted the white speck of an eminent statesman's head. All the ideas that had been fomenting in the minds of a people for a generation became a living force of action to break through the precedents born of provincial passion with a new precedent; for the power of public opinion can be as swift in its revolutions as decisive victories at arms. The world at large, after rubbing its forehead and readjusting its eye-glasses and clearing its throat, exclaimed:

"Why not? Isn't that what we have all been thinking and desiring? Only nobody knew how or where to begin."

The premier of the Browns found himself talking over the long distance to the premier of the Grays in as neighborly a fashion as if they had adjoining estates and were arranging a matter of community interest.

"You have been so fine in waiving an indemnity," said the premier of the Grays "that Turcas suggests we pay for all the damage done to property on your side by our invasion. I'm sure our people will rise to the suggestion. Their mood has overwhelmed every preconceived notion of mine. In place of the old suspicion that a Brown could do nothing except with a selfish motive is the desire to be as fair as the Browns. And the practical way the people look at it makes me think that it will be enduring."

"I think so, for the same reason," responded the premier of the Browns. "They say it is good business. It means prosperity and progress for both countries."

"After all, a soldier comes out the hero of the great peace movement," concluded the premier of the Grays. "A soldier took the tricks with our own cards. Old Partow was the greatest statesman of us all."

"No doubt of that!" agreed the premier of the Browns. "It's a sentiment to which every premier of ours who ever tried to down him would have readily subscribed!"

The every-day statesman smiles when he sees the people smile and grows angry when they grow angry. Now and then appears an inscrutable genius who finds out what is brewing in their brains and brings it to a head. He is the epoch maker. Such an one was that little Corsican, who gave a stagnant pool the storm it needed, until he became overfed and mistook his ambition for a continuation of his youthful prescience.

Marta had yet to bear the shock of Westerling's death. After learning the manner of it she went to her room, where she spent a haunted, sleepless night. The morning found her still tortured by her visualization of the picture of him irresolute as the mob pressed around the Gray headquarters.

"It is as if I had murdered him!" she said. "I let him make love to me—I let my hand remain in his once—but that was all, Lanny. I—I couldn't have borne any more. Yet that was enough—enough!"

"But we know now, Marta," Lanstron pleaded "that the premier of the Grays held Westerling to a compact that he should not return alive if he lost. He could not have won, even though you had not helped us against him. He would only have lost more lives and brought still greater indignation on his head. His fate was inevitable—and he was a soldier."

But his reasoning only racked her with a shudder.

"If he had only died fighting!" Marta replied. "He died like a rat in a trap and I—I set the trap!"

"No, destiny set it!" put in Mrs. Gulland.

Lanstron dropped down beside Marta's chair.

"Yes, destiny set it," he said, implicitly.

"Just as it set your part for you. And, Marta," Mrs. Gulland went on gently, with what Marta had once called the wisdom of mothers, "Lanny lives and lives for you. Your destiny is life and to make the most of life, as you always have. Isn't it, Marta?"

"Yes," she breathed after a pause, in conviction, as she pressed her mother's hands. "Yes, you have a gift of making things simple and clear."

Then she looked up to Lanstron and the flame in her eyes, whose leaping, spontaneous passion he already knew, held something of the eternal, as her arms crept around his neck.

"You are life, Lanny! You are the destiny of today and tomorrow!"

(THE END.)

Ways of Great Singers.

The celebrated impresario Schurmann once said it was a precarious matter to draw up an agreement with a star, for each one had some strange little provisos which he insisted on inserting.

In one contract Tamagno exacted that he should be allowed thirty-seven candles each night in his dressing room. Schurmann was amazed that even a great tenor should require so much illumination, but he consented. When Schurmann visited Tamagno's dressing room he found only two candles alight. On another occasion he discovered only one. Inquiries led to the discovery that the provident tenor saved up the other candles and sold them at a profit.

Schurmann said that a small boy whose father was a great friend of Caruso's, having asked the tenor for a signed photograph, received as a reply, "Certainly, go to my photographer; he will sell you a photograph, and if you bring that to me I will write on it whatever you like."

HOW DEMOCRATIC TARIFF OPERATES

It Seems Designed to Render Foreigners Prosperous.

R. A. Booth, Republican nominee for United States senator from Oregon, in a recent speech told some things about the Democratic tariff law that are worth attention. While some of his remarks are applicable only to his own state, some of his figures apply elsewhere, and they all show the trend of the present tariff law. Mr. Booth said:

"The only partisan measure that has been championed by the present Democratic administration and over the protest and votes of Republicans enacted into law by a Democratic congress is the present tariff law. What has it done for American industry or the American laborer? By admitting to this country the products of other countries at reduced rates or free it has stilled American factories and reduced the wage or thrown into idleness the American laborer.

"Last year, according to a British report, the shipments for June of British woolens into the United States was 05,000 yards. In June this year, under the Democratic tariff, the shipments were 018,000 yards, an increase of nearly 900 per cent.

"In June, 1913, the shipments of British worsteds were 414,000 yards. This year, for the corresponding month, they were 2,821,000 yards. Likewise in cotton goods the shipments almost doubled.

"The report of our government shows the import of woolens in May, 1913, to be less than 10,000,000 pounds, and in May, 1914, under the Democratic tariff, to be over 31,500,000 pounds.

"From the Congressional Record for Aug. 11, 1914, we may read that for the nine months ending June 30, 1913, under a Republican tariff there was shipped into the United States from foreign countries twenty-three items, all products of the farms and pastures, less than $50,000,000 worth. For the corresponding months this year, under the Democratic tariff, the value of the same items imported was over $120,000,000.

"I will specifically mention a few of the items that make up these totals:

"Corn imports increased from $100,000 to $7,500,000.

"Oats imports increased from $37,000 to $7,800,000.

"Cattle imports increased from $5,700,000 to $16,300,000.

"Butter imports increased from $258,000 to $1,646,000.

"Wool imports increased from $25,000,000 to $48,000,000.

"These items could be greatly extended. They show conclusively why the percentage of unemployed in Great Britain had decreased since the enactment of our Democratic tariff to 2.3 per cent from 4.3 per cent, the average of the past ten years, and account for the tremendous increase of unemployed in this country. These things refer to the country as a whole, but the present Democratic tariff, supported by Oregon's senators, strikes a serious blow to a half dozen of our own state's industries. Oregon has one-fifth of the standing timber of the United States. Today nearly 40 per cent of Oregon's mills are closed.

"Under the last Republican tariff law the average annual shipment of shingles over the line from British Columbia was 200 carloads. Under the present Democratic tariff law during the four months ending April a shipment of 1,482 carloads is reported, an increase from less than seventeen carloads a month to over 370 carloads a month. The Democratic tariff bill is responsible for this."

No other person in love acts so foolishly as the person in love with himself.

REPUBLICAN RECORD AS FRIEND OF THE TOILERS.

Senator Penrose Calls Attention to Pittsburgh Laboring Men.

In a recent speech in Pittsburgh Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania said:

"I can honestly say that I never voted against a bill in which labor was interested during all the time I have been in congress, but I have introduced many such measures and supported them to the end.

"Labor is the backbone of prosperity and the skilled right hand of capital. I have been a frequent visitor in the Pittsburgh district, and never was I so overwhelmed with sorrow as when I visited here during the Cleveland administration and saw soup houses the most prominent thing on the landscape. Every factory and mill was closed tight, and thousands of men walked the streets in enforced idleness.

"Then came a Republican administration with a protective tariff, and the Pittsburgh district enjoyed a period of prosperity never equaled in the history of the whole world—a period in which prosperity was so great that sufficient labor could not be obtained. Now, again, we have a Democratic administration, and 75 per cent of the workingmen of the Pittsburgh district are idle. I wish to state that any congressman voting for free trade is a traitor to his country.

"They told you that the price of living, ever soaring upward, was due to that tariff. I ask you if that living price has gone down one cent since the change was made from the old protective tariff? Hasn't every article gone steadily upward since the enactment of this free trade proposition? I ask you whether if a year and a half ago the job wasn't hunting the man and whether since the new free trade the man hasn't been hunting the job?

"As patriotic Pennsylvanians, ignoring other matters of public policy, forgetting that we have different views on other subjects, I ask you if it is not our duty to bring about a restoration of prosperity to Pennsylvania and the United States. There is an army of unemployed, and alarm is felt by many patriotic men as to what will happen during the coming winter. I am not a calamity howler.

"You all know the conditions as they prevail. That great doctrine instituted during the time of Alexander Hamilton and continued during the time of President McKinley rendered our country prosperous. We want to see a new era of prosperous development, when every man can get a job at good wages—America for Americans, and American wages for the workman."

How Low Tariff Worked.

The low tariff law acts as a double edged sword against the people of the United States. Not only has the net measure of the administration decreased the revenue of the government, making necessary the imposition of an income tax and partly influencing the proposed enactment of a special tax law, but by largely increasing our importations before the outbreak of the European war the low tariff act created a huge debt to foreign countries which under existing circumstances can only be paid by incurring additional expense and hardship.—Philadelphia Press.

Democratic Taxes.

The Democrats have informed an anxious country that the new taxes are to "be strictly internal." Most people will view them as "simply infernal."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE SILKS AND VELVETS

In the Dry Goods Store Exhibit Starting Wednesday, This Week

splendidly emphasizes the beauty and quality of "made in U. S. A." piece goods.

Distinctive of the store's service, and according to established custom, we begin this Wednesday a series of special displays of new goods that came since, or were not fully shown, in the earlier, general opening of Fall fashions.

This brief notice can hardly more than present cold facts—type can't begin to adequately picture the beauty of the new and fanciful.

Silks, Velvets, Laces, Trimming and Ribbons

—the three later items loomed abroad, and direct to us (or as near direct as things can now come).

We invite you to see well-chosen goods, fashionably correct, and in weaves, colors, designs and beauty not likely to be shown in such variety elsewhere.

OF RARE INTEREST:

—The silk crepe taffeta for street costumes
—The many shades of silk crepe de chine for evening dress;
—The Roman stripe taffeta and faille silk for whole costumes, trimming uses, girdles and so on;
—The beautiful weaves and richness of the black silks;
—Velvets, "U. S. A. made" and on a par with the best that comes from abroad.
—Ribbons are gay with Roman stripes and Autumn tints. Some in stock are foreign loomed. This is the store of best assortments and biggest variety. Gros grain to be plentifully used this Fall and Winter is here in abundance; as are the plain and floral ribbons;
—See the laces decorated with gold and silver; with delicate rosettes in color; with colored embroidery. And the bands and ornaments of jet, crystal, metal and silk.

Dress Making Requisites

—from foundation silk down to your favorite needle, are on the same floor, in the best qualities we can buy, and as modern and helpful as one could wish.

We hope you can come before the loveliest and most exclusive things find new owners.

This 9 x 12 Seamless Brussels Rug at $15.

is wool-face, yarn-dyed and in pleasing patterns. We guarantee it to give service and satisfaction equal to any rug sold elsewhere at $2 to $4 more in price on a weekly payment plan.

—and this 9 x 12 Wilton Worsted rug price $65.

represents the highest type of rug weaving in America.

The face is close sheared and fine as silk; and so tight are the yarns, they'll not crush or pull out in years of service. The designs are in rich colors, clear cut and uncommon, and the rug looks more like a beautiful painting than something to walk over.

Between these extremes are big and little rugs for every room in the home. The patterns are well-varied, and the qualities dependable—the full strength of our two stores guaranteeing service and price.

We sell good rugs—and like things—for less than other stores ask, because we are one of a hundred-some buyers taking quantity lots at the lowest mill prices.

—9x12 Body Brussels Rugs, $25.
—9x12 Best Axminster Rugs, $25.
—9x12 Seamless Velvet Rugs, 19.75.
—9x12 Wilton Velvet Rugs — standard worsted—37.50.
—9x12 Hartford Saxony Rugs—exclusive to this store—$50. These in true reproduction of Oriental rugs, even to the softened color and peculiar yarn. They are called the best wearing rug made in America.
—9x12 French Wilton Rugs, $55.

Extra size rugs, 10.6x12 feet to 11.3x15 feet; and small rugs from mat size to 8.3x10.6 feet, are in Brussels, Body Brussels, Axminster and Wilton weaves.

The designs generally are: Plain color and border; floral; small blocks; scroll and medallion—the medallion patterns coming back into favor.

Carpets: Linoleums

—An extra heavy all-wool ingrain carpet, 36 inches wide, is $1. a yard and in different patterns.

—Standard ingrain carpeting, strictly all-wool, 75c a yard.

Our stock also contains granite, rag, union and the finer carpets for rooms, halls and stairs. All are made, laid and lined free of charge.

—Linoleums, two yards wide, are sold thus: Printed, 1.10 and 1.20 the running yard; nlaid, 1.75 to $3. the running yard.

Washable Rugs

Our best and fluffiest bathroom rug is the "Saratoga." All sizes, all colors, and a variety of designs. $2. to $4. each.

Next in grade is the "Atlantic," a reversible rug, 1.50 to 3.50, according to size.

..SPECIAL! 30x60 inch washable rugs, made of clean, new cotton "rags," 88c each, reduced from 1.25.

Our Carpet Room

is the long, daylighted annex on the west side of the second floor. It is a well-planned room, comfortable to shop in. Stack after stack of rugs down the center, carpets and such on one side, and close-set windows the length of the other side. Here, also, is the selling place of lace curtains, portieres, vacuum sweepes, oil cloth, etc., etc.; and of trunks. Visitors will find much to interest them, and a hearty service in the annex.
